Lowell is a Great City

Lowell bases its claim to greatness on well-known and firmly founded facts. The city of a thousand industries that employ scores of thousands of people and its population approximates 115,000 people and is constantly increasing. Its industries are great, its rivers, and its people are good people.

Lowell is beautifully situated at the confluence of the Concord and Merrimack rivers. The water power of these rivers was fully developed by a system of canals which divide the city in a network, dividing the territory into seven distinct islands. Along the banks and along the river banks have sprung up myriad mills.

Within the city itself the streets are well paved and there are hundreds of magnificent shade trees, well preserved, lining the curbs and sidewalks. The business center of the city is very compact, and all business houses are accessible within a very short walking distance, and yet there is ample room for expansion within these same limits.

Lowell is surely a versatile city. Its interests are not all commercial or manufacturing. Lowell is progressive. Lowell seeks all the benefits that the modern city needs. It already has more than its share. It sent its minutemen to the Civil War with the Sixth Massachusetts and its sons fell at Baltimore, the first to die for the Union. Lowell's commercial life Lowell has shown the way to textile greatness and its mills are monuments of industry known the world over. It is hard to find an article that is not made in Lowell. It is commonly supposed that Lowell weaves cloth and that nothing else of consequence is manufactured here. Lowell makes the ammunition hoists used on the battleships, the cash carrier systems in use in the great stores, boats, boilers, broadcloths, plush, bullet cartridges, hosiery, machinery, sail cloth which has been used by the America cup yachts, patent medicines of national and international repute, scales, shoes and slippers. The list of Lowell products begins with acids and ends with yarns. It reads somewhat like a tariff bill.

Is it to be wondered, then, that Lowell is prosperous? Its workers seldom starve. They are cosmopolitan in character, but are rapidly becoming American by assimilation.

Take the matter of thrift, for instance. The savings banks and co-operative banks are teeming with cash saved by the thousands. The savings banks held $39,452,623 of the people's savings at the most recent report. The people here own their homes to a large extent, and many of the workers not only live on their own property, but own other property as an investment.

It may be noted that Lowell not only has its golden opportunity of location on rushing rivers, but also has developed its opportunities wisely. It has collected its commerce into a single area, put its mills in the background, rimmed these with fine streets, well shaded, and lined with the mercantile establishments, and then built its homes close at hand. The ideal city, it is, for business and for commerce. The Boston & Maine system, and the N. Y., N. H. & H. Railroad run into and through the city, connecting it in every conceivable direction with the commerce of the world. The city is but 26 miles from Boston, and the trolley lines aid the steam roads in reaching the Hub and the other points in Massachusetts and New Hampshire. The transportation system is very complete. In the next few years, it is confidently expected that the channel of the Merrimack River will be deepened to permit of commerce, thus adding a very desirable element to the local situation.

People who visit Lowell casually are impressed with the surprising fact that a manufacturing city can be beautiful. Lowell is developing along these lines, but is already a beautiful city. Its great parks are models, and, when the ambitious plans now started are completed, the park system of Lowell will be genuinely magnificent.

Lowell, "The Workshop of the World" welcomes new people, new industries, new development, new enthusiasm, and shows you who would like to know about us that here is a place where law abiding citizens prevail, where industries are varied, where factories abound, where there is seldom excuse for idleness, and where the people are thrifty and energetic, strong in patriotism, watchful of their good name and that of Lowell. Lowell is wide open to the worker, but there is no room for the shirker.

The Lowell Board of Trade is the key that unlocks the doors of Lowell's future.

LOWELL STREET DIRECTORY

COPYRIGHT, 1916, SAMPSON & MURDOCK CO., BOSTON, MASS.

Giving the location of the Streets, Places, Parks, Squares, etc., and showing what other streets and places run from them, or across them, with the number at which they intersect

From this list the location of any number on a street, or the location of any public building, can be easily ascertained; as, for instance, wishing to know at what part of Central Street No. 320 is located, you look at Central Street, and find that Appleton Street runs from 301, and Tyler Street from 340, showing that 320 Central would come on the left, between Appleton and Tyler Streets

When a street crosses another, numbers (or ciphers) are given on both sides; but when it begins or ends at that street the number is given only on the side at which it intersects. Ciphers are used where no numbers exist

Bricks Without Straw

In ancient times, we are told, the Israelites were forced to do their work without the proper materials. They did it—after a fashion—but at an enormous cost in time and labor. Labor was cheap in those days however, and their task masters had the power to insist upon the full quota being given in spite of limitations.

Now the labor market is high, yet, in many cases history repeats itself. We still often see business trying to get along without the proper tools or with antiquated equipment.

You can do business without the telephone; it is possible to get along without a typewriter; you may use a quill pen for your correspondence if you so desire; it is your privilege to be without insurance, or the latest directory. If you wish you may still use a mailing list that was old when grandfather was a boy.

If the results are not entirely satisfactory, it is up to you.

Some firms prate wisely of business efficiency and then lose time and money sending to wrong addresses culled from an out-of-date directory. Rather than spend the few dollars necessary to insure themselves being properly listed under all the headings applicable to their business, they run the risk of letting their competitor get their trade. They save the first cost of an up-to-date mailing list and waste postage stamps by the gross.

Would you improve on old methods? Then phone or write at once for particulars to

THE waste basket is the grave of millions of dollars worth of advertising every year. Keep your advertising out of the waste basket by using mediums that are not thrown away. The City Directory is on the job 365 days in the year and no level headed man will think of the waste basket and the City Directory at the same time.

Monuments

In purchasing a monument particular attention should be given to the selection of a design and material. As a monument is something that is purchased but once, it should be of the best material and of an appropriate design.

Only the finest grade of material enters into our monumental work, and the production of this work is entrusted to the skilled hands of qualified artisans. Our plant is equipped with the latest improved compressed air hammers and we guarantee all work.

We make no charges for original designs and quote as reasonable prices as can possibly be named for strictly first class work and prompt service. If impossible to call, send for designs.

Special attention given to Duplicating, Lettering and Cleaning of all Granite and Marble Work already erected at Cemetery.

We also specialize in all kinds of Interior Marble Work for Buildings

We have quick service in our Show Rooms, a large display of finished memorials selected to suit every taste.

Let Uncle Sam Carry Your Story

Letters, properly used, may be your best salesmen. They get in and tell your story though the private door is closed to all else.

Having the inside track it is your place to make the most of it. Your letter should tell its story clearly and convincingly, have if possible something of the personal element and not offend by the "cheap" appearance due to poor quality paper, careless punctuation or spelling, too apparent "form", bad filling in etc.

Thousands of well prepared letters are a total loss because of a faulty mailing list which sends them to wrong addresses or defunct firms. A revised mailing list every few months is a profitable investment.

The List and Letter Service Dept. of the Sampson & Murdock Co. has all the facilities for compiling Up-to-the-Minute Mailing Lists, compiling and typing letters which have not the slightest appearance of a "form" letter and for printing, addressing and mailing them in any quantity in the shortest possible space of time. For full information address;
